TIMES TO REMEMBER

at LANGSTON UNIVERSITY
LANGSTON, OKLAHOMA 73050

Dr. John Montgomery, member of the Oklahoma A&M Board of Regents and a practicing veterinarian in Poteau, was the scintillating speaker for the Pre-Founders Day Banquet.

Dr. Darnell Williams, director of the Graduate Degree Program in Education, consented to pose beside the colorful inscription denoting the occasion.

FAITHFUL ALUMNI ATTENDING THE BANQUET

President Holloway congratulates DR. HOBART JARRETT, keynote speaker, who took the audience at the 92nd Annual Founders Day Convocation on an excursion through a brief history before being projected into the future. Jarrett, who spent several years on the faculty and worked under three presidents, told the audience of some of the "times he remembered." He is presently professor at Brooklyn College in New York.

Dr. Jarrett greets long-time friends and former colleagues after the convocation.

HONORS CONVOCATION

The Honorable Hannah D. Atkins (left), Secretary of State and Cabinet Secretary of Human Resources, was guest speaker for Annual Honors Convocation. Pictured with Secretary Atkins is Dr. Holloway who presented her with the Distinguished Honorary Alumnus Award. This occasion is observed each semester to honor students who have excelled academically.

Dr. Holloway paid tribute to Dr. Wessylne Simpson, retired Director of the Division of Education and Regional Director of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, by presenting her the highest award the University can bestow the Distinguished Alumnus Award.

FACULTY/STAFF DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOP "Promoting a Drug-Free Environment"

The goal of the 1989 Workshop was to provide a university-wide forum whereby faculty and staff can receive and exchange information relating to a drug-free environment.

One of the group sessions held during the workshop. Bill Anderson (standing) was the moderator.

Dr. C. D. Jones, Dr. Jean Manning and guest consultant Dr. Robert Gilmore, Director of Urban Ministry Institute, Houston, TX.

Mrs. Vivian Britton, who has been employed at Langston University for the past 41 years, began working as the president's housekeeper in 1979. Prior to her employment at Langston University, she worked for many years as a cook at the Oklahoma School of Religion. She is a member of the New Hope Baptist Church and the Langston Historical Society.

Orville Cornelius, a Guthrie resident, has been employed at Langston for 23 years. He is a member of the Langston Lions Club and was elected 1978-79 Lion-of-the-Year. He has served as president for the board of ushers of the Mt. Olive Friendship Baptist Church of Guthrie where he has been a member for 15 years.

Mrs. Carrie Jackson has spent 27 years working at Langston University in a variety of different departments, including the cafeteria, the nursery, the Home Economics Department, the registrar's office, the Day Care Center and the Music Department. She is a graduate of Langston University and a member of the United Baptist Church of Seward.

Mrs. Patricia Moorman has spent over nine years at the university. Prior to this she was employed by Oklahoma State University and Okmulgee Tech for a total of 21 years. She is an active member of the Coyle community, the Christian Church, and also belongs to the Coyle 4-H and FFA Booster Club.

The Tradition Of Langston University's Annual Retirement Banquet

During the early 1960's another Langston University tradition was started under the administration of Dr. William H. Hale, 10th President of Langston University. He reasoned that a member of the Langston University family who ends an active number of years of service to the University should be publicly honored at the climax of that career.

CONCERT CHOIR TOURS SPAIN

Isaac Coleman, Mrs. Alexis Rainbow (director of the Choir), and Delbert Chiles observe the scenery in Cuenca, Spain. The Choir enjoyed this unique opportunity of touring and performing in Spain at the invitation of Choral Conductor Julius Williams to participate in a religious choral festival. This experience will be an exciting time to remember for students and faculty.

Edward Grady, Exhibition Curator, talks to high school students about one of his paintings in the Langston University First African American Art Exhibition, which will become an annual event. Other artists participating were Deon Anderson, Frank Frazier, Thelman Harkins, Mary Ann Moore, Richard Robertson, Paulette Black, Daryl Gouch, Jack Jordan, Wallace Owens and Albert Shaw.

Miss Langston University is a Model of Success

Joelyn Alicia Washington, Miss Langston University 1989-90, walked away with a top-ten finish and over $1,800 in the Miss Oklahoma Scholarship Pageant. Joelyn is a criminal justice major from Denver, Colorado, and plans to pursue a career in law. She is the daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Joel L. Washington.

Joelyn defeated 32 contestants competing for the Mary Lou Piland Outstanding "Rookie-of-the-Year Award." Joelyn was awarded a scholarship and was the recipient of the Newcomer Talent Award with her piano performance of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Minor." Miss Washington was chosen as one of the Top Ten Semi-Finalists. Joelyn was the first Black woman to achieve that much success in the history of the Miss Oklahoma Scholarship Pageant.

Joelyn has a special interest in music after having taken piano lessons since the age of nine.

Miss Washington is a member of the Concert Choir, the Communications Club, the Corrections Department, and the Mile-High City Club. Joelyn is also a member of the Fall 89 Ivy Leaf Pledge Club, and had the privilege of wearing the crown of Miss Black Langston University 1988-89.

Since her matriculation here on the Langston University campus, it has been an experience of a lifetime. Achieving her goal of Miss Langston University has proved to Joelyn that success is attainable. Our queen has shown that through perseverance, hard work, belief in yourself, and faith in God any goal is within reach.

Miss Black Langston University Keleena Marie Nicholson captured the title of Miss Black Oklahoma when she participated in the annual state pageant.

Miss Nicholson defeated 18 other young women for the chance to represent Oklahoma and Langston University in the Miss Black America Pageant. Her talent portion of the pageant consisted of a dramatic interpretation, "I Am a Black Woman," written especially for her by Tyler Davis, a Langston University student.

A broadcast journalism major, Miss Nicholson "Lena," as she is called by her friends, is a junior from Los Angeles, California. Her ultimate goal is to be a lawyer.

SWANS GIVE CAMPUS LAKE NEW RELAXING ATMOSPHERE

Randy Kirk, Aqua Culture Technical Assistant in Research and Extension; Dr. Arthur McKinney, president of the University Center at Tulsa; Dr. Ernest L. Holloway; and Arlo Hamilton, UCAT resident swan expert, are pictured with a pair of baby swans donated to the campus by Dr. McKinney.

The Langston University "Family" is growing by leaps and bounds with the addition of two white baby swans. The male and female swans were donated to the University by Dr. Arthur McKinney, president of the University Center at Tulsa (UCAT).

President McKinney said UCAT received its first pair of swans five years ago, UCAT's flock has grown, therefore he decided to donate a pair to Langston University. "This is another first for the university," Dr. Holloway said. "We are just delighted to have them here on our campus and we have the perfect spot for them," he added.

The baby swans are located in the University Pond at the east entrance to the campus from Highway 33. Dr. Holloway said that the swans give the pond a real purpose.

According to Arlo Hamilton, UCAT's resident swan expert, "I don't expect them to mate this year because they are so young." The female swan, which is older than the male, was born in mid-April. The male was part of a trade by UCAT, so Hamilton did not know his age. Although the swans are a pretty good size now, Hamilton indicated they will double in size by next year.

Relaxing by the pond and enjoying the swans will be one more "time to remember" for the Langston "Family."

Dr. Darnell Williams and Dr. Wilson browse through an old yearbook. Dr. Wilson was William's mentor at Bishop College.

"This is where it all started for me in higher education," said the now famous musician. "Going through the University Men (now the Research Building) gives me such a feeling of nostalgia. The campus has changed so much, but it is certainly beautiful!"

Dr. J. Harrison Wilson, who now serves as Professor of Music at Harbor College in Los Angeles, is better known for his accomplishments in the world of music. He has written several documentaries that have been televised, performed and made into movies.

Some of the instructors he remembers with fondness include: Dr. Youra Quarles, the Jarrets and Amelia R. Taylor, for whom the theatre is named.

COMBINED EFFORT PROVIDES EXTRA FURNITURE FOR SCHOOL

The United States Department of Defense, General Services Administration and the National Association of Equal Opportunity in Higher Education (NAFEO) have joined in a combined effort to kick off the America Black College Initiative Program, and Langston was one of the first schools to benefit from the effort.

Two truckloads of furnishings were brought to the campus as a part of the effort. Helen Arnold, director of the Office of Public Affairs for the State of Oklahoma, said, "It is exciting for Oklahoma and Langston University to receive these donated properties. The Office of Public Affairs looks forward to working with these national governmental agencies in helping to implement the American Black College Initiative Program."

The American Black College Initiative Program involves the donations of excess governmental furnishings to selected historically Black colleges and universities across the nation.

The State of Office of Public Affairs and NAFEO worked cooperatively in transporting the first shipment of furnishings for approximately 150 dormitory rooms.

Representatives from cooperating agencies (pictured below) are on hand for the delivery of the first shipment of furnishings donated to the campus by the Department of Defense. Looking over some of the furniture are Sgt. Mike Melton, Major Ron Moncrief, President Holloway, Helen Arnold, Jim Lyons, Dr. Elbert L. Jones, Donna Rice, Reginald Wiley, and Ann Marie Rogers.

This year's Formal Opening of Langston on September 27 was a landmark in the history of the university. New and exciting programs have been initiated, the enrollment was at an all-time high, capital improvements are progressing rapidly and the speaker for the occasion was State Representative Steve Lewis (D-Shawnee). Since his election to the State House of Representatives in 1980, Lewis (left) has played a leading role in many major state issues. He was honored by his colleagues on May 17, 1989 when they elected him Speaker of the House. As the State House's Appropriations and Budget Committee Chairman for five years, Lewis shouldered the task of writing balanced state budgets as an economic downturn shrank state revenue which Lewis reversed. Pictured also is State Representative Don Ross (right) who is always a very special guest on campus. His support and concern has truly earned him the title of "A Friend of Langston." President Holloway is escorting the lawmakers to a luncheon which followed the Formal Opening Convocation.

Student Government Association officers get information from the top as they talk with Langston Alumnus Avalon, a member of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, when the educational hierarchy met on campus last week. The group includes Deryl Lane, activities director; Michelle Lang, secretary; Regent Reece; Reginald Wiley, president, and Terry Saulsberry, vice president.

Mounds and mounds of various ice cream flavors were built into the huge sundae by American Food Management to help Langstonites deal with the unseasonably high temperatures this week. Kendra Burris (center) digs into the sticky treat.

Deidre Alvarez, Mashyllia Guan, Kathy Cooper and Daquet Wilson enjoy a watermelon feast also sponsored by Mike Parikh, American Food Manager.

Youngsters at the Early Childhood Development Center paint pumpkins as part of the annual Halloween party given by the sorors of Alpha Zeta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. The children decorated pumpkins, painted faces, listen to stories, played games and received treats from Allison Griffin, Belinda Scott and other AKAs.

Drum major Stephan Daley and members of the tuba section pump it up during halftime of the Langston-Lincoln football game. The band accompanied the team to Jefferson City, MO. By the way, LU won 19-10.

Dr. Melvin Todd, vice chancellor for academic affairs for the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, told the students who attended the seminar presented by the Beta Kappa Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity that they must prepare now to live with change.

Dr. Todd used a distillation of his life's experience to explain to the audience the significance of the experience they are currently involved in. Reducing the distance between him and his audience, Dr. Todd asked the seminar participants to open the windows of their minds and permit him to enter for just a moment.

He told them it is not easy living in America today. "I don't envy you. I don't think I had to confront the problems that you have to deal with today. My life was much simpler," he said.

Dr. Todd explained to them one of the first things he learned as a student at Langston under Melvin B. Tolson was "everything changes except the law that states that everything changes." He told the students that this was their world. "It is not a perfect world. It could have been worse, but it could have been much better. I apologize for the condition it is in as we turn it over to you," he said.

He pointed out that the reason that they were at a university is because it was part of their destiny. "You are here to make a difference. You are not here just to exist." "Bedbugs exist!" he exclaimed.

"You must prepare yourself with excellence in education so that you will be in position to accept the change and success when they present themselves," he concluded.

Following the seminar several students spent a considerable length of time asking questions during the refreshment session.

Commander-in-Chief of Northwestern Consistory No. 84 in Guthrie Dr. F. W. Cooke; Associate Loyal Lady Ruler of Lydia Assembly No. 84 Flora Herbison; and Loyal Lady Ruler of Lydia Assembly No. 84 Louise Hawkins present a $300 check to President Ernest L. Holloway. The money will go to the Langston University Development Foundation to be used as a student scholarship. Looking on is Development Foundation Director Harold Robinson. Consistory No. 84 operates under the jurisdiction of the Oklahoma Prince Hall Masons.

President Holloway accepts a check from Conoco Representative Gail Redmond on behalf of Vice President and Regional Coordinator E. G. Thomas. Looking on are Director of the Division of Business Dr. Calvin Hall and Conoco Representative Felix Brage.

Stillwater Typewriter Representative Kevin Bostian presents a check to the president to be used also as a student scholarship.

President Holloway presented plaques of appreciation to the three charter members of the Public Relations Advisory Board at a dinner at his home commemorating the first 10 years of the Board's establishment. Left to right: Dr. Holloway, Oris Taylor, Robert Littlejohn and Tommy Day.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service began a working program with Langston by presenting the institution with a computer. On hand for the ceremony was Oklahoma Representative Larry Martoglio; Associate Professor of Home Economics Dr. Ramona Kellam; Director of the Division of Arts and Sciences Dr. Clyde Montgomery and the President.

Wichita IRS Division Director Clarence King Jr. and IRS Representative Kenneth Koonce are pictured with the President at a formal ceremony at which time the IRS announced that the IRS would send King to Langston for a year as an instructor at the District expense. Later the term was extended to two years. The program has received national recognition.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Since his inauguration as the fourteenth president of Langston University, Ernest L. Holloway has marched "with a steady beat" toward his goal of academic excellence for his Alma Mater.

Langston's #1 Lion can be just that — a LION — when it comes to fighting for the cause of Langston University. During his ten year tenure, Dr. Holloway has generated resources on the state and federal levels that has made Langston one of the most viable institutions in the State of Oklahoma. With increased revenue, the university can boast of having the highest enrollment in the state for the Spring 1989 Semester; progressive improvements; and new and exciting academic programs. These achievements did not happen by accident but can be attributed to the dynamic leadership of Dr. Ernest L. Holloway.

As overwhelming as his accomplishments are at Langston, Dr. Holloway has found time to extend his expertise to the larger community. He has served as president, chairman and member of numerous civic and social boards and organizations. In the fall of 1989, he was appointed to the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, Missouri's, Branch in Oklahoma City and was named to head the 25-member Council of Oklahoma College and University Presidents, the first time in its history that the chairmanship has gone to a Langston president.

Under president Holloway's leadership, we shall continue to "Soar to New Heights" as we approach a century of excellence. The LION Staff predicts, however, that the "Best Is Yet To Come."

Langston's Self-Study Is Cited

Langston University was notified by the North Central Association of College and Schools that not only will its self-study be used as a model for the organization's annual meeting but it is also being considered for inclusion in the resources section of the commission's "Handbook, Guide and Manual."

Dr. Jean Bell Manning, chairman of the task force for the study, was appointed by President Holloway to represent the institution at the Association's meeting. She will chair a roundtable discussion session, which will provide institutions that are about to undertake self-study processes the chance to ask questions of those who have completed the process.

In addition, each year during the Association's meeting, the commission establishes a resource room in which it displays exemplary self-studies as models for meeting participants to examine. Langston University's self-study will be on display in that room and will also be available for purchase.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF GOAT RESEARCH

Goat Research Logo

Student Assistant Joyce Richards has also become very involved in the goat research program.

Coordinator of Animal and Laboratory Operations at American Institute for Goat Research Mike Potchoiba and Chinese scholar Ping Wu (pictured left) conduct research concerning goat nutrition, reproduction and herd management. Langston completed Phase I of the Animal Research Facilities Project in May, 1986.

In 1990, the U.S. Forest Service will experiment with using goats from Langston instead of herbicides to control vegetation in Ouachita National Forest. The intent is to test use of goats to clear out unwanted hardwood sprouts, said Jerry Ingersoll, forester for Jessieville Ranger District in Arkansas. He admits the forest service is not sure whether the animals can tame their appetites. "Goats will eat anything," Ingersoll said. The project calls for 50 billy goats to graze on 20 acres of a 40-acre clear-cut during the first year of the experiment. The project site is about 13 miles west of Jessieville, Ark. The goats will graze from April through October every year, protected from predators by dogs and confined to the test area by a five-strand electric fence.

LANGSTON AIRPORT 1989

If the picture above does not produce a feeling of nostalgia, perhaps it is because you were not born, you were too young or you were not attending Langston during the 40's and 50's. If the reasons stated are true this cannot be said of students who, in spite of the ravishes of storms, tornadoes and time, remember with fondness this building as the Langston Airport.

Alumni have been heard to say, "If that Airport could talk . . ."; "Those were times I will never forget"; and "Do you remember when . . ."; and so much more that cannot be repeated. However, those of us who remember will be overjoyed to know that the Langston Airport is going to be restored.

The history of the airport reveals that it was one of only two training centers for Black pilots in the nation during World War II. When the airport closed, the equipment was transported to Tuskegee Institute which later became the #1 training base for Black pilots. The property, which is located on the road leading to the Langston Lake, has been purchased by Langston University. The hangar will be restored as a historical landmark and the surrounding 40 acres will be used for grazing goats.

Langston University is still creating "times to remember" for students today and for the future.

ACADEMICS

Dr. In Hai Ro gives careful instruction to students working in Langston's Earth Sciences Computer Laboratory. The facility is stocked with computers provided by funding through the U.S. Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior, which gives students the opportunity for employment after completion of the course.

Nursing student Karen Rayno practices on fellow student Judith Mulvany.

With the use of a human skeleton, Zoology professor Dr. Sarah Thomas teaches McCabe Honors Scholars Mike Lyons and Cynthia Bridges how to identify bones of the body.

Director of Libraries Mrs. Alberta Mayberry assists honor students to find reference materials for personal and social development. Shown studying in the Melvin B. Tolson Black Heritage Center are McCabe Honors Scholars Lane Spence, Perkins; Robin Lawrence and Elaine Williams, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Mayberry; Tommie Heltcel, Guthrie; and Shawnetta Jones, Oakland, California.

Director of Bilingual Education in Fort Worth Public Schools Ramon Magallanes gives participants attending a workshop techniques and strategies for teaching the child with limited English proficiency in a multicultural setting. The summer workshop for graduate students in Bilingual and Multicultural Education was funded by a grant from the Oklahoma Regents for Higher Education.

Darnell Williams, Building Strong Graduate Program

Innovative teaching methods and a wealth of knowledge has made Dr. Darnell Williams an exciting source of information for the first class of graduate students in the bilingual education program.

Espere un momento, por favor. Llevale esto a tu maestro(a) recoge a los niños en frente de la escuela. Favor de sentarse aquí y llenar estas formas. Gracias por su ayuda. Es tu turno. Dile a tu' maestra que nos mande el libro. No corras en el corredor, por favor. Sientate aquí, por favor.

The Spanish terms above and many more plus bilingual education are being taught in the foundations of bilingual/multicultural education class on the graduate level by Dr. Darnell Williams.

Dr. Williams, director of the School of Education and Behavioral Sciences and the Graduate Program, is a dynamic, energetic, caring professor who makes his students feel that they can accomplish anything that they set out to do; and that includes learning and teaching Spanish.

The course is designed to study the historical development of bilingual/multicultural education, and its trends and implications in the field of education. The students in Dr. Williams' bilingual class have been introduced to these multiple program designs and trends that are currently in practice.

Dr. Williams said, "Bilingual education is in America to stay, and as a result, teachers must get themselves prepared to deal with the new languages and cultures in order to deal with the steady flow of non-English speakers coming into the country."

The bilingual/multicultural program is just one of the many new academic thrusts of the University for the 1990s.

Vernon T. Rider Gets LU's First Thurgood Marshall Scholarship

Vernon Tyrone Rider, Oklahoma City Freshman McCabe Scholar, is the recipient of the first Thurgood Marshall Black Education Fund Scholarship awarded to a Langston University student.

The four-year scholarship named for Thurgood Marshall, the first Black American to serve as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, is awarded to one entering freshman at each of the 35 historically Black public colleges and universities.

Criteria for selection by the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Committee included grade point average, ACT or SAT score (minimum 24), enrollment as a full time student, and recommendation by the high school as an exceptional academic achiever or as having outstanding talent. The recipient must maintain a 2.5 GPA and full time student status.

Rider is a 1989 graduate of Douglass High School, where he was in the top 10% of his class. He was the 1988-89 recipient of the All-Around Young Man Award, Presidential Academic Fitness Award, and was voted Most Likely to Succeed. He received numerous other awards for academic achievement and was listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

FAS PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS ASSIST WITH ALUM CONFERENCE

Preparation for the Alumni Professional Agricultural Conference by students in the Food and Agricultural Sciences program had the 23 participants involved in activities which allowed them opportunities to interact with Langston graduates who are currently employed in the area.

Dr. Jo Ann Clark, director of the FAS recruitment/retention project, said, "It was a wonderful opportunity for the participants to interact with Langston graduates who are working in positions that impact the entire state, nation and world."

Marvin Cook, Langston liaison with the United States Department of Agriculture, and Richmond Kinnard, chairperson of the department of agriculture, said between 20 and 25 graduates participated in the conference.

During the conference the students had an opportunity to talk with the graduates about job opportunities, career objectives and future plans.

The FAS students prepared portfolios on their specific career interests, evaluation of agriculture related field trips and photographs of enrichment activities in which they participated.

The FAS program started on the Langston campus five years ago and over 50 students have received training and services through the initiative.

Information was especially important to the FAS students because it allowed them an opportunity to see how their areas of specialization can be incorporated into the total agricultural focus of the industry.

RESEARCH EFFORTS LAND $12,000 GRANT

Lisa Short, a biology senior from Guthrie, participated in Howard University's Summer Research Program, June 5-July 28, 1989. The program was designed for talented, minority and needy undergraduate students interested in advanced graduate training in the sciences and engineering. Students also enrolled in a one-hour course entitled "Introduction to Graduate Study."

"By attending Howard's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Lisa was exposed to what's expected of one in graduate school," said her Biology instructor Dr. Sarah Thomas. "After graduating from Langston University next Spring she hopes to attend graduate school, so this should be an excellent experience for her."

Lisa says her goals are to pursue a Master's and a Ph.D in the field of biology. "I feel highly honored to be able to attend Howard," she said. "I couldn't have done it without the help of Dr. Thomas."

One of the requirements for students accepted to Howard for the summer was that they have a genuine interest in research and teaching as a career in the biological and life sciences, physical sciences, or engineering. According to Dr. Thomas who recommended her, Ms. Short excels in this requirement. "She is of the highest integrity," she explains. "She is highly motivated, responsible, dependable and very intelligent. I'm sure she will be successful in her plans for the future."

During her stay at Howard, Lisa had a paper published and also gave a public presentation concerning the project she was working on. She received top marks from her instructors and was invited to do graduate work. She was offered a $12,000 scholarship that also covers most of her expenses.

Students Involved in Creating an Advanced Learning Environment

Dr. Elbert Jones congratulates Joyce Willis.

President of the Young Hall House Council Joyce Willis, a sophomore from Oklahoma City, received congratulations from Dr. Elbert Jones, Vice President for Student Affairs. Congratulations were in order because of Joyce's leadership which was instrumental in her dorm winning first place in the campus dorm competition. Young Hall won first place for having the most artistic and tastefully decorated dorm both on a daily basis and for special occasions. Director of the Living and Learning Center at Young Hall Johnnie Davis said that programs of this type teach students how to live in an adult community environment. She added that they also learn how to plan and execute programs and projects. Thanks, Joyce!

Things are on the upswing in Gandy Hall, and much of the credit goes to Michelle Lang, student assistant, who has spent many hours working for just such changes.

According to Joseph L. Brown, assistant to the vice president for student affairs, Miss Lang has been responsible for providing a number of services and innovations in the residence hall that has improved the quality of life for those who live there.

"She has made her presence felt in Gandy Hall," Brown said. "She has made important contributions to the programming aspect of the hall, the development of the resident assistant trainees as well as counseling those residents who are having adjustment problems either in the halls or the University in general."

Miss Lang, who is a senior finance major from Oklahoma City, has also had a very positive impact on the management of the residence hall as well.

Brown, who was very generous with his compliments, added that Miss Lang really had a positive leadership impact on Gandy from both management and students. They have literally come alive because of her overall input and work ethics.

Michelle is very active in other campus organizations including the Scholars Club. She is secretary for the Student Government Association and a member of Alpha Zeta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

Natural disasters that have swept around the Western Hemisphere did not bypass Langston this fall. The Campus Corner Store, located across from the I. W. Young Auditorium, was struck by lightening and burned. The store, under the ownership of Sanstelle Lewis, had provided the campus with several innovative and unique souvenirs plus Greek and Langston designer items of clothing. However, Ms. Lewis has insurance and we are looking forward to the grand re-opening.

Pictured before the fire, the shelves were loaded with merchandise in anticipation of homecomers seeking Greek or Langston souvenirs.

Cable installation was almost completed when the Lion went to press. Above, Paul McCully of Corrine Cable System of Stillwater was snapped checking a junction box to make sure that the signal is going to the proper locations.

LANGSTON, A TOWN ON THE MOVE

Mayor Viola Jones has been instrumental in obtaining needed and added support for the Town of Langston with the help of the citizens and other city officials.

Among the many grants and physical facilities and equipment given Langston is a $71,575 grant from the Oklahoma Water Resources Board. The grant will be used to make needed repairs and improvements in its water distribution and storage system.

Senator Kelly Haney and Representative Don Kinnamon, persons instrumental in Langston securing the grant, presented the check to city officials during a special ceremony at Langston City Hall.

City officials attending were Viola Jones, mayor; James Davis, Councilman; Fannie Holland, treasurer; Judy Anderson, city clerk; and Judge Audrey Prewitt.

Also present were President Ernest L. Holloway; Dr. William A. Franks, consultant; Cecil Wildman, project engineer; Susan Shields, grant administrator; Vance Gibley, contractor; Mizura Allen, retired Langston University professor; and Reese Daugherty of the OWRB's Planning and Development Division.

Residents of Langston have suffered from an unreliable water supply system due to an inadequate storage tank and distribulines which have had numerous breaks and leaks. Part of the original $95,000 grant, $23,573, was awarded to the Town in October 1988 to refurbish the existing water storage tank. The remaining portion of the grant will help pay for replacing faulty water lines and installing gate valves.

Presenting a $71,575 check to the Town of Langston officials Fannie Holland, treasurer; James Davis, councilman; and Mayor Jones is Representative Don Kinnamon. The group gave special commendation to Consultant Dr. William A. Franks, a Langston resident, who has spent many hours assisting with the project.

Anticipating better times for the community, Mayor Jones greets the first truck load of pipes to be used to repair and update the town's water distribution system.

Plans are being formulated for Langston University's Centennial Celebration. The Celebration, beyond a doubt, will be FANTASTIC!

Utilizing the archives of the Black Heritage Center, the yearbook staff selected an array of pictures depicting students, class scenes, graduating classes, organizations and other scenes. Since so many of the photographs were unidentified, we decided to use the 1990 Yearbook as a research tool.

Therefore, we are inviting the parents and grandparents of our students to join us in our plans for the Centennial by identifying the pictures on the following pages.

Please send your identifications to the Yearbook Staff, P.O. Box 266, Langston, OK 73050.

We will be deeply grateful for any assistance you will be able to give.

IF UNIQUE IS WHAT YOU SEEK

TRY GREEK

If you want to go beyond the daily social life of a college campus, have fun and learn what true brotherhood and sisterhood are all about, try the Greek life by joining a fraternity or sorority. There are eight different fraternities and sororities on the LU campus. Each one is different in its own right, yet they ALL HAVE THE SAME PURPOSE — Striving for academic excellence, brotherly and sisterly love, and service to all mankind.

1989-90 LIONS BASKETBALL

After two seasons of 20 wins or more, the Langston Lions had to settle for less lofty status during 1989-90 season. Coach Weldon Drew had All-American Floyd Wilson to build the team around, but he was without a legitimate center for the first half of the season, and injuries played a significant role in later games.

The lack of size at the center and forward positions was offset in the early part of the season with quickness and traps. But many teams figured out the tactic and found ways to defeat it. Help on the inside came when 6-2 junior Anthony Robinson joined the squad after football season was over. He, along with André Scott and Marlin Young, carried most of the rebounding and inside scoring load. In the second semester, Keith Manuel, a 6-9 center from Houston, Texas, joined the squad. Manuel had previously played at Texas-El Paso and the University of Rhode Island. By the time that Manuel joined the squad, Young began to have trouble with his knees and was lost for the remainder of the season.

Still the Lions were able to battle even in the first half of the season with victories over Phillips University, John Brown University, Jarvis Christian College, Emporia State University and East Central State University.

The second half of the season was a much different picture for the Lions. Wilson, who had averaged over 30 points per game in the first semester, found himself being double and triple-teamed by opponents who wanted to limit his scoring in the game.

Senior transfer James Billbury provided some offensive punch, but the overall lack of experience and depth was too much to overcome and make a third straight trip to the NAIA District 9 Playoffs.

Anthony Robinson goes high above USAO's Roderick Kindred to score two points.

Despite being double teamed most of the night, Floyd Wilson still managed to score 26 points over the taller Hornets of Emporia State University.

At times the Langston Ladies played like world beaters. But, then most of the time they played like the team they really are. Coach Abron Young Jr. was in a rebuilding year, and as a result had to suffer through many games where his team was simply outclassed. In addition, he had to contend with injuries that left him with only seven players during some games.

Other than Thressa Combs, only freshmen and sophomores made up the squad. But Young did get some outstanding play from several of his young players. Debbie Riebe was especially tough on defense, and Tammy Bagby, Daria Weaver and Tonya Dover were good shooters. Combs was a much improved player who dominated the middle and Darlene Hoskins could do it all. She shot well, rebounded well and provided leadership on the floor.

Combs and Hoskins were co-captains for this year's squad, and they were among the better players in a district where three different schools have won national championships in the last 10 years.

Typical of the youth on the squad, brief lapses of intensity accounted for almost half of the losses they suffered during the season. During one stretch in the middle of the first semester they played extremely tough. They went to the Midland Lutheran College Tournament in Nebraska where they finished third. They lost to the host school by Midland Lutheran in the first round by one point. They came back to defeat Morningside of South Dakota by 19 points the following night for the consolation championship.

The Ladies will have a wealth of talent and experienced players upon which to build for next season.

There were so many things that might have been in the 1989 football season. The Lions, who had their best season record during the decade of the eighties, were closer to breaking even newer ground. The mainstay of the team was the tremendous defensive effort that they put out all year. So good was their performance that they finished second nationally in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' standings for total defense, second in rushing defense, and third in passing defense. They led District 9 in those same categories.

Five times during the season a Langston player was selected as the NAIA District 9 Player-of-the-Week. Johnny Walker was named for his efforts against Lincoln in Jefferson City, Mo., Anthony Robinson for his performance against Miles College of Alabama; Deryl Lane was recognized for his play against Panhandle State; Derrick Alexander's performance against Prairie View earned him the distinction; and Tyrone Bowen's performed well enough to walk away with the honor in the season's finale against the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff.

The Lions got out fast, but then they dropped two in a row before picking up their next win. They repeated the series before ending the season with a win and a tie.

First Team

Floyd Wilson
Honorable Mention

The dynamic duo of Floyd Wilson and Eric Harris propelled the Lions into the NAIA District 9 Playoffs in the spring of 1989, and earned themselves All-American honors in the process. Harris was the first Langston player ever to be named to one of the first three teams of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. He went all the way to the top and earned a spot on the first team. Floyd Wilson was named to the honorable mention squad, thus giving the Lions a double dose of recognition. Harris is showing just how easy it is to rise up and dunk the ball. Wilson is shown at the bottom.

1989 FOOTBALL ALL-AMERICANS

During the football season most people knew that this year's team was something special. At the end of the season, the honors that rolled in confirmed those beliefs. Players from the 1989 Lions football team were named to the NAIA Scholar-Athletes Division I national team, and to the Division I NAIA All-American squad. They were also selected to the Black College Sports Inc. 1989 All American Football team. Henry Armstrong (3.66 business administration), Anthony Elekalachi (3.65 business administration), and James Ellis (3.31 computer and information science) were all named NAIA Division I National Scholar-Athletes.

On the NAIA Division I All-American squad were Deryl Lane, second team defensive end, and Joseph Julian, honorable mention offensive guard. Jerry Rush, running back, was named honorable mention on the Black College Sports Inc. All American Offensive Team, and Lane Ellis, Donald Phillips and Johnny Walker were named to the honorable mention defensive team.

AN INVITATION

Langston University students are invited to become a member of the 1991 Yearbook Staff. The LION should be produced by STUDENTS. The LION should be YOUR book! In addition to the Yearbook providing an annual history of "what's happening at LU," the book is a valuable tool for learning layout and design, perfecting creative writing techniques and developing skills that will be of use to any student no matter what his or her major may be.

Please know that you do not have to enroll in the course Journalism Participation/Yearbook to be a member of the Yearbook Staff. You CAN be a volunteer! So, come join us, please?

Gladys R. Johnson
Yearbook Advisor
