Governor Henry Bellmon receives Honorary Alumnus Award and congratulates President Hale on the rapid progress being made at the University.

Eugene J. Brown Hall

New Men's Dormitory named in honor of the late Eugene J. Brown, outstanding artist and art professor at the University for thirty-seven years.

Lenouliah E. Gandy Hall

New women's dormitory named in honor of the late Lenouliah E. Gandy, Associate Professor of Home Economics and State Supervisor of New Homemakers of America. Miss Gandy spent her entire teaching career at Langston University.

All Gaze With Pride Upon the Scene

The words of our theme were taken from the beautiful strands of our "Alma Mater." They refer not only to the new physical facilities, so easily seen, but also refer to our enriched academic and cultural program for our students; our capable and dedicated faculty; our loyal students, alumni and friends whose support is so deeply appreciated as we build together a greater Langston University. Together, we are creating a more physically beautiful and educationally meaningful "scene" upon which to gaze as the years go by.

UNIVERSITY DEDICATION CONVOCATION SPEAKER

DR. E. T. DUNLAP, CHANCELLOR, OKLAHOMA REGENTS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

"Excerpts from Dedicatory Statement"

... This milestone of achievement is symbolic of the renewed, spirit, the re-dedication of purpose, the alertness of conduct, and the vigor and plain hard work which has characterized this institutional atmosphere in recent years under the present administration.

Goethe, the German philosopher, set some guideposts for our use in planning and evaluating architectural structures when he wrote: Three things are to be looked to in a building; that it stands in the right spot; that it be securely founded; that it be successfully executed.

I believe these principles can help us as we seek to determine the meaning of this dedication ceremony. . . .

These structures that we dedicate today are committed to the goal of freedom: freedom from ignorance, freedom from social deprivation, freedom from cultural impoverishment, freedom toward full opportunity, freedom to pursue intellectual integrity, freedom to enjoy social dignity.

The freedom for which this institution stands can be achieved only through true education. In the words of John Ruskin,

The entire object of true education is to make people not merely do the right things; but enjoy the right things; not merely industrious, but to love industry; not merely learned, but to love knowledge; not merely pure, but to love purity; not merely just, but to hunger and thirst after righteousness.

... We take great pride in these accomplishments, not for the selfish reason that we will now have more spacious and beautiful surroundings for our own enjoyment, but for the fact that when we are gone these buildings will serve other generations to come.

... The shade of these buildings will extend beyond the horizons of our day and become an instrument for the advancement of knowledge, the promotion of culture, and the assurance of intellectual integrity and social dignity.

These structures thus will serve as implements of education and social change, helping to usher in a new era—one of peace and mutual trust among men of good will. It is to this end that we dedicate these new buildings at Langston University.

The William H. Hale Student Union

The William H. Hale Student Union provides excellent facilities for cultural, and leisure-time activities and serves as a focal point of student-faculty out-of-class activities. Some of the service areas include: a cafeteria that will serve nine hundred persons, a snack bar with separate kitchen and complete soda fountain; a large game room-guest lounge; a complete two-chair barber shop; a beauty shop; post office; varsity shop containing books, notions and the like, a ballroom; a small dining area for special groups, a record room with a wide collection of records designed for cultural development in the area of music.

Members of the Experimental Group of students who are part of the Faculty Freshman Developmental Study Group pose after seminar session in the home of the President.

RESEARCH GRANT RECEIVED

A National Science Foundation chemistry research grant was received by Assistant Professor J. A. Simpson (left) for 1964-65 school year. Senior chemistry major, Winfred Willie (right) will assist with the research.

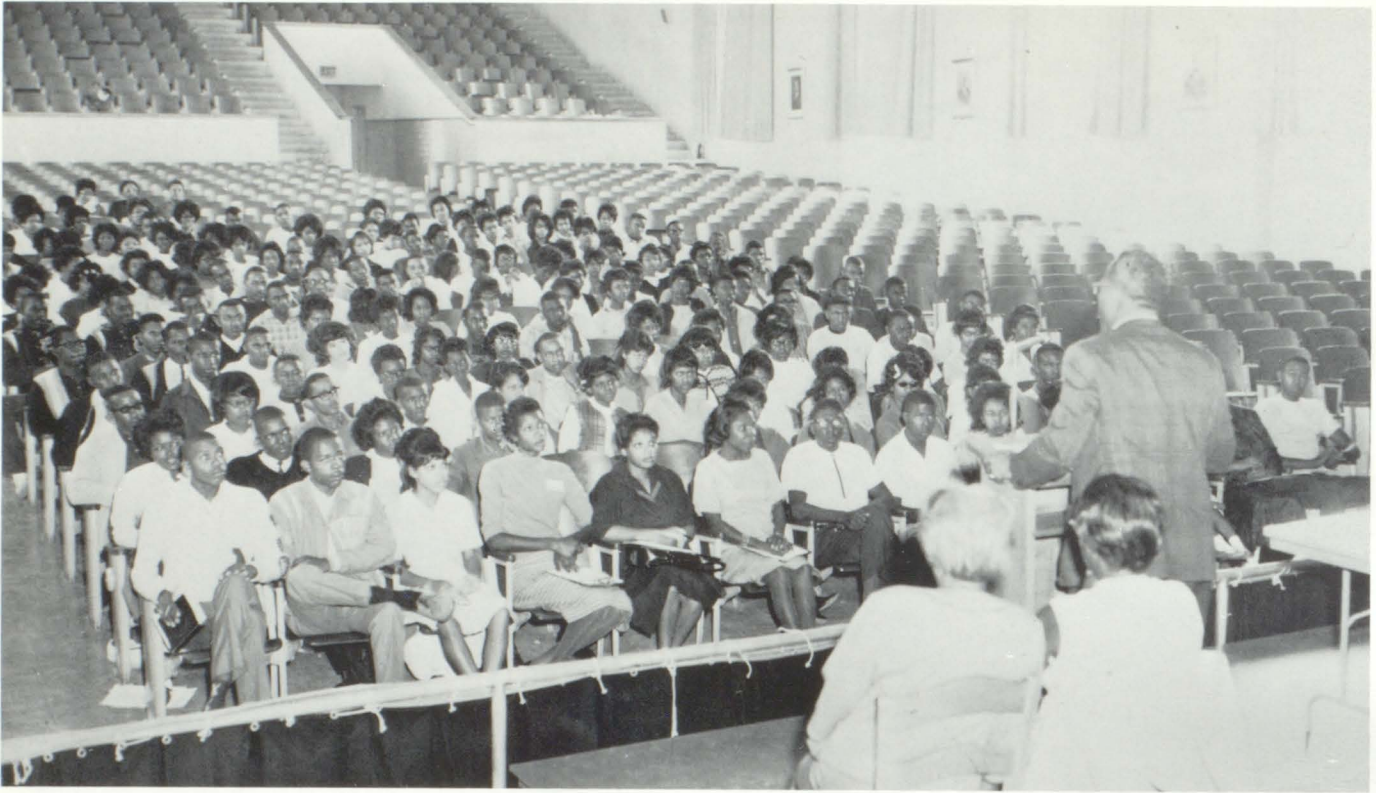

Dr. Israel Glover, Professor of Mathematics, Florida A. & M. University, visiting lecturer—NSF Math Institute for elementary teachers.

Introduction to the Humanities, a new general education course now required of all students taught by Mrs. Moxey King, Chairman of the English and Modern Languages Department.

Kerr-McGee Scholars listen to Dr. Frye, Research Chemist, in seminar session at the Kerr-McGee Research Center.

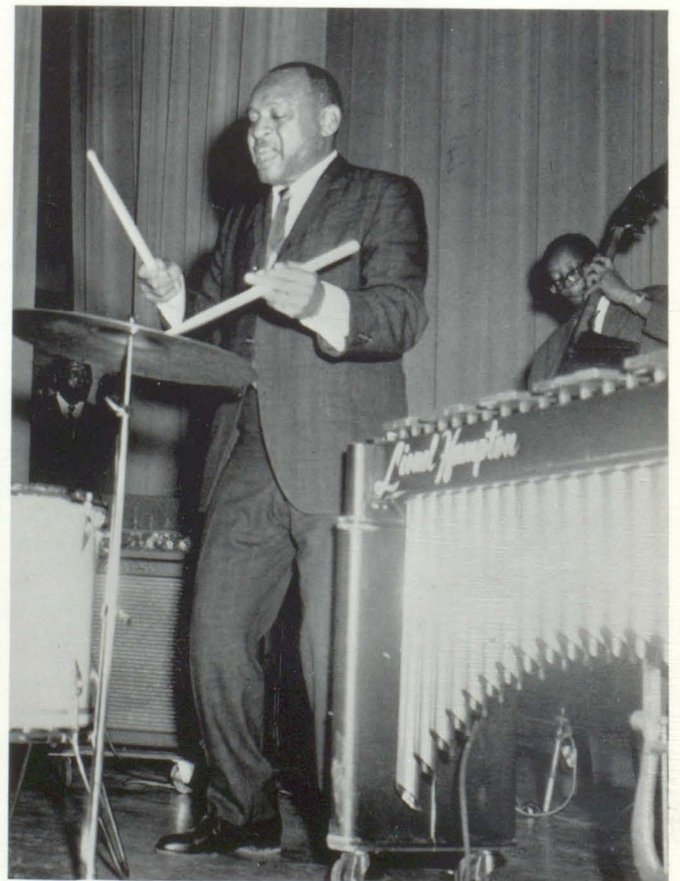

The Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., and Langston University have initiated a unique program of Petroleum Marketing, the only such cooperative undergraduate program of its kind in the country. Eight scholarships are provided for students selected by the faculty. The program is offered in the Business Administration Department, chaired by Mrs. M. C. Allen.

Over three hundred freshmen attend the How-to-Study Clinic sponsored by the graduate chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority during 1964 Orientation Week.

As a part of the University's 1964-65 cultural program, the Oklahoma State Theater Guild presented "The Taming of the Shrew"

Lionel Hampton and Orchestra play for concert during the 1964 Homecoming activities.

Two more illustrious men are added to the Lion's "Roll of Honor". These men, to whom the 1965 Lion is dedicated, have faithfully served the University in contrasting fields of endeavor—sports and the creative arts. Both are men of integrity and strong character noted for devotion to the development of better students. For this and many other reasons, the Annual Staff proudly dedicates the 1965 Lion to Mr. C. Felton Gayles, Director of Athletics; and Dr. Melvin B. Tolson, Professor of Creative Literature at Langston University and renowned poet.

William H. Hale, Ph.D., L.H.D.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

William H. Hale became president of Langston University on September 1, 1960. Previously, he had served for 12 years as a Professor of Sociology and Chairman of the Department of Social Science at Clark College, Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Hale is the tenth President of the College and the first graduate of the institution to serve as its president. The President received the M.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin and the Ph.D. degree from The University of Chicago. Dr. Hale's constant efforts to build a greater Langston University together with his goals for the future of the institution make him not only the dynamic guiding spirit of Langston University, but an outstanding leader in higher education.

Mrs. Aline Johnson, class of '53, serves as University Secretary and Secretary to the President.

The President and his Family at home.

Mrs. William H. Hale

Langston University's First Lady was recently elected the First Supreme Basileus-Elect of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. She takes office as Supreme Basileus in August, 1966.

Mrs. Hale is a busy mother who includes in her schedule the band, chorus, scouting, and Jack and Jill activities of teen-age daughter Janis who is in the 9th grade, as well as kindergarten activities of Gina.

She serves as Professor of Education and Business Administration and Director of Development at the University.

The Honorable Henry Bellmon
GOVERNOR OF OKLAHOMA

May I offer my congratulations to the seniors of Langston University on their upcoming graduation and also extend my best wishes to the remainder of the student body.

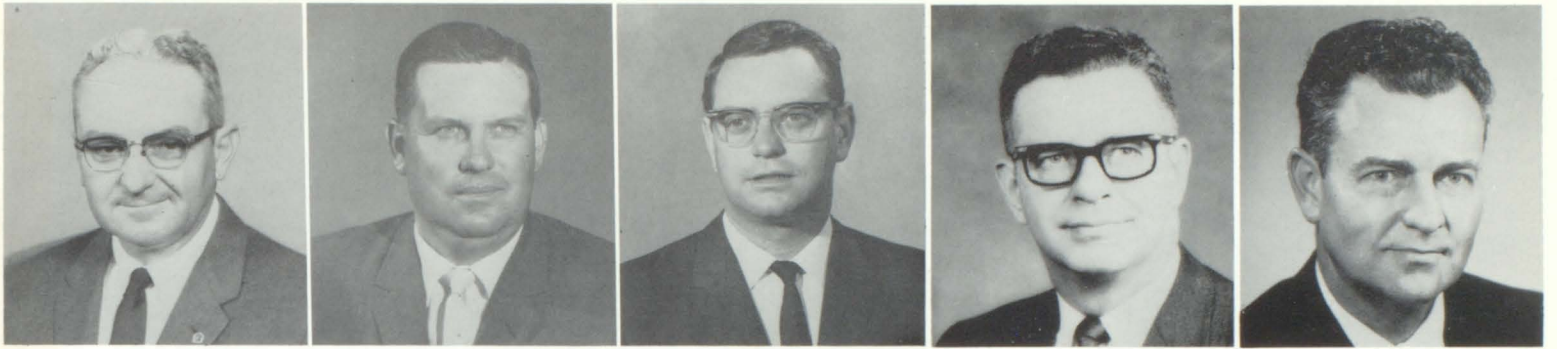

The years you have spent pursuing education are most significant and valuable ones not only to you as an individual, but also to the future of our great country.

As you prepare to assume roles of leadership, you can feel confident that the training you have received at Langston University will stand you in good stead.

I hope your future will grow with the future of Oklahoma and that both will remain promising.

Sincerely,
Henry Bellmon
Governor

"Sooner Guides"

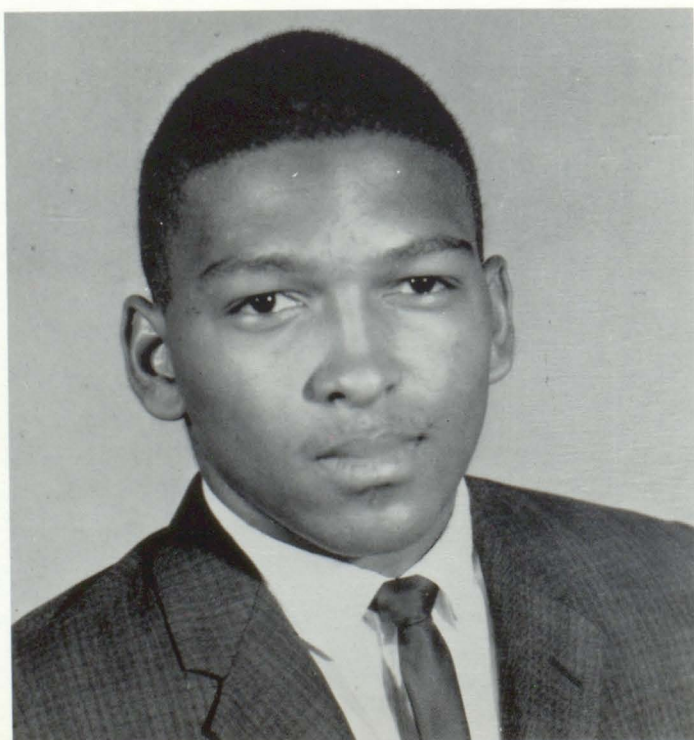

James Robbins, Sooner Guide for 1964, is a junior majoring in English. He is a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

* * * * *

"Sooner Guides" represent the State of Oklahoma at its exhibit at the New York World's Fair. The Guides are chosen from more than 250 applicants from state colleges and universities by a nine-man committee representing almost every aspect of Oklahoma's economy. Final selections were made following a series of screening interviews. Guides are selected on the basis of their outstanding college records, their ability to impress others and their enthusiasm for Oklahoma.

Fred Latimer, Sooner Guide for 1965, is a sophomore majoring in English and a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.
