ITEM OF INTEREST . . .

An article appearing in the Sapulpa Herald under the heading "The Editor's Notebook" written by Ed Livermore carried the following statement: "We have not had the pleasure of meeting Dr. William H. Hale, president of Langston University. But if the occasion ever presents itself, we plan to greet him with a pump handle welcome. This fellow Hale looks like the long overdue answer to the nauseated citizen's prayer.

"Hale last week demonstrated without doubt and for all to observe just who was in charge at Langston University. He told a prospective graduate who showed up wearing a black power kimona to go home and change into more respectable clothing or not go through graduation.

-MORE-

"When the young man returned but still without a tie and shirt, Hale gave him the 'ole heave-ho and then had the guts to stand up and tell his auditorium full of graduation visitors, friends and parents just what he had done.

"Granted, a person who completes the prescribed courses cannot be denied a diploma, but there is no rule at Langston that keeps Dr. Hale from running the receiving line.

"We can't help but compare this bit of firm response to that of the willy-nilly president of San Francisco State who turned tail and let the trouble makers take over a perfectly fine educational institution. Same goes for the spineless response of the head man at Columbia U.

"We say Dr. Hale has set an example for some of his white compatriots to follow."
