BLACK HERITAGE WEEK OPENS FEBRUARY 8 AT LANGSTON

Langston University observes Black Heritage Week Sunday, Feb. 8 through Thursday, Feb. 12.

Featured will be "Festival Africane" and Dr. J. Ruben Sheeler, noted historian from Texas Southern University, Houston, Texas.

Festival Africane! by the Ibrahima Camara-Yusef Crowder African Arts Ensemble is a kalaidoscope of color, motion, sound, and feeling in which the elemental beauty and power of authentic, traditional African ballet illuminates the North American stage. Festival Africane! boasts an international roster of ten dancers, drummers, other musicians, acrobats, singers, and actors whose brilliant artistry explodes in an ear-filling, eye-opening, heart-stopping experience which has brought coast-to-coast audiences to their feet cheering.

The "Festival Africane" will perform at 8 p.m. Tuesday, in the I.W. Young Auditorium.

Dr. Sheeler will speak at 10 a.m. Thursday in the I.W. Young Auditorium. He will hold a seminar for the students starting at 1:30 p.m. in Moore Hall.

Black Heritage Week activities get underway with 10 a.m. Meditation Sunday, Feb. 8, in the I.W. Young Auditorium.

"Looking Back at History," will be featured 6 p.m. Monday, in I.W. Young Auditorium. It is being sponsored by the freshman class.

The activities conclude at 7:30 p.m. Thursday when B.P.U. presents "The Truth Is Told." The variety program will be held in the Student Union Ball Room.

All activities during Black Heritage Week are open to the public free of charge.

Tornado Seminar

A "Tornado" Seminar will be held 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 10, in Young Hall Lounge.

Ken Brown, of the National Weather Service in conjunction with the Civil Defense Department, will present an hour program concerning tornadoes.

"This seminar is to alert you as to what action you should take in the event a tornado hits," a spokesman said.

A film will be shown and printed information will be handed out on the course of action to take if a tornado is spotted.

News Deadline

DEADLINE for news in the weekly newsletter is 12 noon Thursday. Students, faculty and staff are encouraged to use the newsletter to publicize their department, organization, and activity.

Lions Fourth In Dunkel Ratings

Langston clung to its No. 4 position in the Dunkel Ratings this week--climbing .7 to 42.7 with a 102-77 victory over Panhandle. The top six teams in the Ratings enter the District Nine NAIA playoffs following the regular season.

Langston lost a 109-104 squeaker to Texas College in Tyler, Texas, Wednesday night.

The Lions travel to Jefferson City, Mo., Saturday night for a game with the Lincoln University Tigers.

BASKETBALL, TRACK, BASEBALL TEAMS HONORED AT PEP ASSEMBLY

The Langston basketball, track and baseball teams were honored at Pep Assembly 10 a.m. Thursday in I.W. Young Auditorium.

President Thomas E. English saluted the athletes. He said, "I believe we should be good in everything." He encouraged the athletes to have a great love for Langston University.

Coach Albert Schoats, athletic director, said "Langston University is a great institution and that a lot of great men have graduated from here." Coach Schoats also lauded President English for his support of athletics.

The program was put together by Ms. Sandi Jacobs, advisor for the cheerleaders. She was brought on stage by Coach Schoats for a "thank you" in spearheading the program.

The basketball team missed the assembly because the Lions were enroute home from Tyler, Texas, where they had played a game Wednesday night.

The program included:

Invocation, Timothy Eppinger; "A Tribute to Our Athletes," Janice Williams, cheerleader captain; Comments, President English; introduction of track and baseball teams, Coach Emmitt Millhouse; comments, Coach Schoats; and announcements, Willie Lawrence, SGA Student Activities Coordinator.

Coach Millhouse said Langston has one of the best track teams since he's been at LU.

Supplying the enthusiasm for the assembly were the cheerleaders and pep band.
